A number of gentlemen are already up to be voted for for President of the Constitutional Convention. Hon. H. D. McHenry, Gov. Buckner, J. Proctor Knott, and Col Bennett H. Young seem to be in the lead.

THE Louisville Times circulates the information that Dick Tate is dead Tate has not been heard from by his family since 1888, and some of his most intimate friends at Frankfort havn't had any information from him since that date and they conclude that he must be and purchased a number of mules, one

Is we do say it ourselves, the News seems to be walking ahead of anything in this neck of the woods in the shape of a weekly newspaper. Although it has been counted somewhat of a dull summer our subscription list has run up close to two thousand and we hope to add another five hundred before the

THE Grand Army of the Republic held its annual encampment at Boston, Mass., last week, and there was never before such a large number of the order collected together. Prominent Republicans, members of congress, ex-army officers, and politicians without number were there ready to say or do anything for the poor soldier who fought for his flag, and his country. But the most significant feature of the meeting seems to be the figure the soldier will cut in the campaign of 1892. That important event is coming, and coming swiftly and it behooves the party of great moral ideas to trim its sails for business. If they can run another gag on the soldiers, such as they made in '88, they may again consolidate that element. Gen. Alger in his address to the veterans, said it was true the Republicans had not done for them what they had promised in the voting of pensions but they should be patient and the matter would work out all right. This was no doubt somewhat consoling but not strictly business. The G. A. R. is in for the stuff. They want a pension, every mother son of them and they will not let up until they get it.

JUDGE Wm. E. Russell, of Marion county, announces himself as a candidate for Congress from this district in this issue of the News. So far the race has narrowed down to himand Mr. Montgomery, the other aspirants having dropped out of the contest. Our people will be given ample opportunity to hear Judge Russell as he has made serveral appointment for speeking in the county. As the matter is to be determined in a primary the people after hearing both candidates can then make up their minds as to which one they will elect to serve them. Judge Russell is a good debator and a very able lawyer. He is at present the Circuit Judge of his district.

Resolutions.

Resolutions adopted by the young friends of Archie W. English who de parted this life Aug. 7th, 1890,

Resolved. That we the friends of Archie W. English, tender our heartfelt sympathy to his bereaved family and pray our dear Lord to comfort their broken hearts. That while in the coming days we shall sadly miss his bright presence, yet we humbly bow to the power, that for some wise purpose so often takes our dearest to himself. And we know he is at rest safe from the sorrows and tem pations of this life for,

He left a weary world of pain, For a happy home on high, Er'e the heavy hand of sorrow, Had made him wish to die. ## Cloverport's Prosperity.

It is reliably estimated that one hundand fifty persons have been added to our population since the late census was taken. We have actually now within our corporate lines not less than 1700 people. Our increase is already rapid but it will almost certainly progress hereafter more rapidly.

No town near us has such prospects, It is everywhere recognized that we have a great future before us.

A large town here will be of great benifit to the whole county of Breckenridge. It is a duty the people of the county owe to themselves to aid and hasten our growth. It will reflect in advantage to the whole. Instead of being jealous of us they ought to be prond of us. There is no other town in the county of which a large increase can be expected or hoped. Give us the power produced by wealth and population, and it will be reaped by all the people.

Mr Reed Working for the Democrats.

It may turn out that the Democratic party will be under considerable obligations to the Hon. THOMAS BRACKETT REED. That energetic and summary person has been cursed with much vigor and wealth of epithet by Democrats of mercurial temperament and florid sensibilities, but it is safe to say that he is unintentionally doing the Democracy a service. He has kept the Democrats down in this Congress, but by so doing he is helping them carry the next Congress.

Mr. REED has held his party to the unsound and arbitrary policy of violating the rights of Democrats in the House and the country. He has made his eye a equorumcounter. He has reversed the decision of the people in Congress district after Congress district, and has seated the minority candidates. He has taken in new States meagre in popula tion and development to piece the Republican strength in the electoral vote Most of all, and greatest service to the Democratic party, he has forced through the house, and is trying to force through the Senate, a bill putting the control of Congress elections and the counting of the votes in the hands of creatures of the Republican party.

The result of these efforts to silence by force or fraud the voice of the Democracy promises to be something very different from what Mr. REED anticipates. The Democratic party, face to face with its dangers and its duty, will seek in union the way to victory. Since Mr REED's programme has been disclosed, the Democrats have shown a disposition to bicker no longer about the non-essentials of economic dicussion. Instead of wasting their strength in quarrels about barren and futile theories, they are ready to unite to repel an attack upon their rights. Without conscious effort of its own, the Democracy has begun to return to its first principles.

Mr. REED has helped the Democrats to get together. In proper acknowledgment the Democrats will help Mr. Reed and his party to get out together next fall .- N. Y. Sun.

New Time Table.

The L. St., L. and T. railroad has issued a new time table No. 16 taking effect next Sunday. A slight change in the arrival of passenger trains has been made.
